Modern Procer Project

NOW!

This is a backup of the information that can change the world.

In case something happens to me, this is left here to guide the way.

I'm going to make it very straightforward, I am still not ready at the moment of writing this, but when I be, I plan to leave things well communicated, everything expressed in books and audiobooks, which is the way of making things reach the entire world, avoiding people from falling into distraction, jumping from one video to another, and forgetting about what they have just learnt. Nor basing such an important work in platforms at the service of the enemies.

Very straightforward. First things first.

First thing is the fear of God, sound doctrine Evangelical Christianity. There is no rapture before the tribulation, the which was taught systematically to the Church via the seminaries controlled by Jesuit money. This must open the door to think that we must become self-sufficient, be organized, having a sense of belonging and aiming towards a common goal.

Next is to see and recognize that majority of people are fat, dumbed down, miserable, without common sense, men that are not men, and women that live suffering because in this world there are no men like they should. This takes us to the second point in importance: semen retention.

Semen retention means to not ejaculate. To not ejaculate "for the sake of it". The purpose of ejaculation is conception, to bring children to the world. When a man ejaculates, he weakens. The way of having sex, besides being in marriage, is avoiding ejaculation. There is no room for false dichotomies, which were pushed in the Middle Ages by the Catholics: of having sex only for childbearing, and not using contraception. It's not like that. That way people were prevented from learning about semen retention. Semen retention empowers the man, gives him the mentality he needs to have, the energy he needs, keeps him polarized. But it must always go hand in hand with holiness, with not watching pornography and not masturbating in any way. This is key.

Expect a syndrome of abstinence those who may have come masturbating for months or years, more so if they have come watching pornography. After healing, the benefits are going to appear to settle. It could happen that there be a massive improvement at first, but then appear the syndrome of abstinence. All this must be known.

And third thing in importance, which affected me a lot, is to beware of pesticides and toxic metals which, for example, are pushed via vaccines. I was left autistic for almost two entire years because of pesticides put in the yerba mate. All this is done in purpose, nothing is by coincidence that there be no knowledge of it, or that it be not talked about it. Pesticides are accumulated, absorbed by the cells, then those being present in the blood tend to be excreted via the liver, pass to the intestine, and in the intestine they cause other problems: they can inhibit enzymes, disrupt the gut microbiome and cause allergic reactions to certain foods. This is how my autism was caused. It's systematic poisoning. And that's how autism must be seen, it's a symptom of poisoning. So for not to think that it be a genetic condition, or that the poor person has to juggle her life around avoiding killing herself. If the person be detoxified, autism is cured. The same many other "mental" illnesses.

The process is as follows. The first thing is to identify the source of the poisoning. In my case it was the yerba mate filled with pesticides. For another one it may be the vaccines, or dental amalgams, etc. One must see for himself. And beware of the combination of things. It's not the same to have to detox certain pesticides like glyphosate or organophosphates than mercury. Here one must know.

The cells absorb the poisons to avoid them killing the person in the blood. When the blood gets clean enough, the cells dump into the blood the amount of poison it can handle, this way detoxing. But that's when the symptoms could appear again. One must have activated charcoal to take when the symptoms were to become too strong, when toxins accumulate in the intestine. Immediately after the administration of activated charcoal, the person may experience an improvement in symptoms. But one must take precautions, and avoid the consumption of certain foods that could result allergenic to the person, because from both the use of activated charcoal and the presence of the poisons in the intestine, the microbiome and the enzymes could result affected and be caused an intolerance to dairy or gluten foods, just for saying two examples, the most common. The "elimination diet" could be used for identifying the source of the reactions. But it must be understood that this demands time. Improvements are not lineal, but they should be like the rising of a tide: many waves that come and go, but one constantly sees the level rising.

For cases of chronic mercury poisoning, I recommend the protocol created by Andrew Hall Cutler, based upon the use of alpha lipoic acid (also called thioctic acid) at low doses. At very low doses, this is important. Mercury poisoning can be very complicated.

Alpha lipoic acid is taken, for example, 12.5mg every two or three hours without exception, even during night time, for three consecutive days, and then one takes another three days off. That would be the pattern. Anyways, this should be studied in depth by the one interested. This is very complex.

These three things are the most important. And if I had to add anything else, that would be to say that one must mentalize, keep himself focused, and not allow himself to be distracted by the constant bombarding of stimulus, for example, people that live consuming content in the cell phone screens and the computer, watching videos that distract them all the time while they are being eaten alive.

But semen retention properly practiced should empower and correctly mentalize the Christian man, that after all, is the one expected to kickstart a world with common sense.

We must polarize.

Guillermo Yacante Afonso, November 9, 2023.

November 25, 2023.

I take this opportunity to expand on some more things.

I wanted to say that the book I wrote in the year 2021, The Trilogy, is very painful for me to read it today, because of the way I say some things, it's always because of the way in which I say some things. The doctrine is fine. But I want to say that I am thinking on redoing it. It must be redone. I want it to be known that exactly that is the effect of semen retention: it puts the head in order. Everything was written in a schizoid tone and I can see it for myself. I am not ready today either, but that it be known: that's how pornography and masturbation crooks the head.

The Trilogy was written in what is called the pink cloud of when one quits an addiction. I had already gone one month without pornography and masturbation, and "the superpowers" came to me. I myself knew that I was not ready in that moment, but it was just like getting the head above the water after a lifetime of having been drowning. It's obvious, it's not time enough to get all things together. That's how it is. And then even everything was lost, I lost the benefits when the syndrome of abstinence kicked in.

I ended up falling again in the vice because in that moment I didn't even know that it was because of semen retention and having quit masturbation. People cannot be ignorant. And besides this, I was even poisoned with the yerba mate at the same time (for this reason I lost so much time without realizing, it was at the same time that the syndrome of abstinence hit and I thought it was part of it). It left me autistic and with lots of contractures in my back, with problems moving the legs and lots of things for the which I should have been able to tell it didn't have anything to do with the other. I don't think this was done against me personally, it has been happening across the entire country. It's crazy the amount of ADULT AUTISM that I can see myself. And people that get affected, obviously don't go out much, showing themselves in public, they are generally not seen. Silent pandemic.

Already began the year 2022, the very first of January I start taking it seriously, and so I did to this day. I did never fall again, at least not in that. But to cope and not fall into depression I started having more caffeine, and that's how I started drinking more mate than ever. I was poisoned by the pesticides, and even further, they accumulate. All this is done in purpose, people. With the complicity of the massive mainstream media that ignore the subject, as always. While they do make the psychological warfare to the people, that one never lacking.

Remember: semen retention.

As soon as I be ready, God willing, I will write some good books for you, The Great Trilogy, which is what is in my heart now. The Trilogy is not enough, that just says that "there is a problem", the Church has been conditioned to not prepare herself. Wisdom for the People of God, or as it may turn being titled, that book is the one for leaving everything clear for the Church to understand how things are. A lot of things need to be said, and it makes me very angry that the Church came ignoring things that are very clear in the Bible, I'll just say it like that. I was left forbidden for two years just because of a poisoning. Others couldn't say that.

And last: The Modern Procer Project. Educational project directed at the general population, with its place for the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ, and all a message to the ones that will repent of their sins, and to the ones that will not. Don't let it be told to you by another. I hope you get what I am saying.

And lots of things that will empower, that will make the people take action. People cannot be still entertaining themselves, listening to "conspiracy theories" while they keep being fat people in the basement.

There's one thing, this a bit off-topic, but I wanted to bring it up so that it be not lost. People are fat mainly because of polyunsaturated fatty acids, and not so much because of sugars. Polyunsaturated fatty acids are sunflower oil, corn oil, etc. And the false olive oil, because there is a lot of fraud in that business, and people need to know. People are sold lots of mixes, and sometimes not even the oils blended, that is all sunflower oil. This must not be used for eating, that it be understood that it's not for human consumption. Replace it for coconut oil or butter. And just check, how you lose the fat that otherwise was hard to get rid of. And read the labels, because polyunsaturated fatty acids are added to lots of things.

And another thing, which is very important. Don't let your thinking be conditioned anymore!

Example: "He has a mental problem" – He has to go see the psychologist.

- Psychologists are an invention of the 19th century to replace the system of Catholic confessionaries. Truth is, they are useless, and what they just do is replace prayer to God, and the asking of advice to a worthy Evangelical pastor, him being in proper conditions of advising well.

But this can only be understood by us Christians, those that be given understanding from God. Because it's hard to believe that many "Christians" be studying psychology, very incoherent. They end up becoming pastors that charge. De-facto pastors.

MISTAKE.

I mean, all these things, and many more, need to be said because otherwise it seems that people never get to understand them.

And another one, which is worse:

"He has a mental problem" – He has to go see the psychiatrist.

This one is heavy. Very dangerous for the common person that falls on that one and doesn't know in what he is getting into.

So, to begin, the psychiatrist went to an institution in which he was given some formation and mental structuring, in which according to some set of symptoms that he be identifying, he would then proceed to prescribe the medication that was so led to believe. Here we must know, there is no space for ignorance.

They use mainly three types of medication, the which would be the biasedly-called, antidepressants, antipsychotics, and sedatives or tranquilizers. Pay attention to the word biasedly. Yes, marketing.

How would I translate it to you?

Respectively, serotonin reuptake inhibitors, antidopaminergics, and benzodiazepines.

Ah.

AH!

That's how they are to be called. Not by the propaganda name, because that's how so many fall when they call them by the name they want people to have in their mouth. Pay attention to this because this happens in so many other subjects.

First of all: be careful those that be already initiated in these. Don't even think about quitting anything at first scare, specially suddenly. These things are drugs and quitting them suddenly can bring syndromes of abstinence, and things that could leave the people even more unstable.

But people must know what it's all about.

This is going to be very reductionist, it's for expanding in the book. But serotonin reuptake inhibitors increase the amount of serotonin in the place where it makes its effect, and that leads to enhancing serotonin function, that, ¿which is?

Ah, neuroscience!

Exactly, one must study to speak about this.

And I did.

It's an inhibitory neurotransmitter. And if it be enhanced as serotonergics do, tendency is going to be to see what pretty much always, they bring down the dopaminergic system and they "numb emotions". In big terms, that is to enhance serotonin.

Continuing.

Antidopaminergics, that's what they do the so-called "antipsychotics". Do they solve anything to the people? A lot of people tagged as schizophrenic are poisoned with pesticides, with toxic metals or in excess those that would be good in correct proportions. Blocking dopaminergic neurotransmission, would solve anything to them? No.

What are they then? Chemical straitjackets. It would surely depend on the dose, and in some acute cases could prevent a greater worse, but, do they solve their problems? No.

And much less when they are prescribed long term.

Next and last, benzodiazepines.

Ordinary people would call them sleeping pills. A benzodiazepine in general is a very strong drug, that just as it is strong, so does cause changes in the brain and the brain ends up becoming used to the drug. Those benzodiazepines with a long half-life, this is, that stay long time in the system until they are cleared, can cause a lot of dependence and rebound effects when trying to quit them.

People can't ignore this, and then be even calling "doctor, doctor" the one that doesn't solve them anything, that takes their money, and even goes on with others that he will see he doesn't solve them anything either. They are very guilty.

But my books are going to be all about solutions, that after all, would be written in the Lord. That He promised to knock the door to this Church of Laodicea, poor, miserable and naked.

The only one essential here is Him. But I beg to be the one that He will use the first.

There are many things to say. And I not only ask God that He be protecting me. But that be getting involved the one reading this if in anything he happened to be a person of good.

Remember, to not be passive or Mennonite heads.

Mennonites, according to their belief, of the no self-defense, if anyone was to spank his wife, they would have to present him the other cheek. Yes, that it do not be like that with us. Look, we have to say everything.

There is difference between vengeance, and self-defense.

And when one knows what he is doing, and he doesn't repent, and that something means to put any danger to the Holy Evangelical Church, that someone MUST DIE.

And the one not killing him when he has a chance is an idiot, but that would tell him his own conscience.

And very different is when people DON'T KNOW WHAT THEY ARE DOING. That's when we could really be in problems. Because we do have protocols.

The enemies do not make case of war crimes, but we do, and we will take care.

And now, and last, and goes in capital letters.

THAT'S THE IMPORTANCE OF COMMUNICATING THINGS CLEARLY AND PASSING THE MESSAGE.

God bless you.

December 17, 2023.

This book has been shaped through the days. I want to bring quickly the attention to:

There's a genocide in Argentina.

Do we deserve it? No, truth is, we don't. A genocide is something that could never be justified.

But psychopaths would want to justify it, trying to convince people half-way of becoming psychopaths. That's what they try to do.

A psychopath must never be given conversation.

I want to bring common sense without anything bothering it.

Until now, with all written previously in this book, there is enough for nothing to stop it. Let's see again:

- Pornography and sexual immorality have led men to be majorly not good for anything. They have lost their polarity, moral authority, and they have an intrinsic fear of death that makes them flee from even the risk of dying, even if it was for the honor of not being slaves and to live in a country in order. But for that, one must fight.
- Semen retention would naturally help men polarize, for good, or for bad. The terrorism being seen in my country, Argentina, is being carried by minds that do know and practice semen retention, which has always been a "secret". The which should have never been. But these unworthy dogs that did know about it have been many times convict population, that did end up realizing when, locked in jails they couldn't have sex or did stop masturbating, which majorly happened before the age of cell phones and television in the rooms. So, then, is a population repented of their crimes going out? Or a criminal made even a worse person with an unworthy knowledge that empowers him even more as a psychopath?
- Continuing with the review. For years the yerba mate has been filled with pesticides. And that of "pesticides", what a name! Are we us pests, human beings? No, truth is, we are not. But the people that design them, that apply them systematically, and that don't want them to stop being used, think that we are. It's about time that we show them that we are not. That we are not all the same, that's the thing. How are we going to demonstrate it? First things first. Today people wouldn't even know how to react. That is very dangerous. First things first.
- Furthering the pesticide subject, there is a very dangerous combination with being fat. Being fat is by itself dangerous, but if poisons have been pushed, even those that get stored in the fat, and people lots of times cannot tell until they've got loaded with them, cares must be taken. If there happened to be a shortage of food and people started to lose weight uncontrollably, that same fat, coming from polyunsaturated fatty acids, inflammatory on their own, could release, while being burnt as fuel, as energy reserve, all the poisons that came holding. Here we must take care of each other. Let's remember, people are fat because of sunflower oil in general terms. The proper term is: polyunsaturated fatty acids. Then would come for blame the excess of sugars or carbohydrates.

- Here is when the project, which I want to leave it very clear: is a cooperative project, would give space for anyone knowing about a subject to help and provide his own. Me, without knowing much or having “studied”, like that, between comas, can tell that activated charcoal must be seen as something essential for having with one. That it be used carefully, because it can neutralize everything, both good, and bad. A poison, or medication. The role in detoxification would be to clean the gastrointestinal tract by the time the poisons be dumped through the bile in the small intestine, avoiding manic crisis, which would be persistent through the entire detox. The effect would be obvious, when symptoms were to appear, which would be very acute, people would feel like going crazy, immediately the person takes the activated charcoal mixed with water, and in less than five minutes her symptoms should be corrected, but only the acute ones. It could also avoid the reabsorption of the poisons.
- Following with ideas of solutions, truth is, I have to say that doctors have been useless, that it be left clear. Specially those of the “specialties”. Psychiatrists are very guilty. Only to say that they better not try to prefer antidopaminergics instead of activated charcoal. The solution has never been to push more pills, but to not put poisons, or detoxify them. People are going to have you no more for eminences just because of you having a title or driving a nice car. You got paid for playing ball. A hick did go in. Went out. And another one followed. That’s how you stood out, among ignorants. But those who you did must take care of. And if you saw that your pills didn’t solve anything, it was your duty to find solutions. Ah! But to play ball did put money in the pocket, why thinking? If that would even make the mafias angry. It’s God whom you must fear. And people without fear of death.
- Punctual things to consider, a very important one is detoxing the blood. To my thinking, the use of sessions of specific hemodialysis to clean the blood plasma, be it that the kidneys be working well or not. It’s not about the kidneys, but about cleaning the blood. In the very 21st century there’s no reason why to lose red blood cells, like it would be with the historical bloodletting or phlebotomy. The use of some specific hemodialysis for keeping the red blood cells, and clean the plasma, could speed up a lot the cleaning the poisons. Plasma can be replaced easily, better could tell someone dedicated to the subject, right? But I also want to say that even detoxifying a poison can bring syndromes of abstinence, and this must be known. When the poisoning has been chronic, even when one be detoxifying, could leave the person in risk of passing out or having low blood pressure. Everything according to the nature of the poison being detoxed. Neuroplasticity. And to have present that a lot of times the poisons did come in through caffeinated products, as it was in my case, that I got poisoned with yerba mate. I didn’t quit caffeine in my detox, which, that it be clear, is not a poison. Poisons are organophosphates, organochlorines, mercury. Not caffeine. So, to make it easy for the person detoxifying, a source of clean caffeine should be provided, without poisons, for not putting the person in a worse state of shock. And for finishing this bullet, to say that when a person gets his blood extracted, many times she says or experiments feeling better, for example, when she donates blood, being extracted close to a pint of blood. Why would it be? Have you come paying attention to this? Or wanting to do it? No more mental conditioning. In the blood could be anything, not only “excess of red blood cells or iron”, as you were conditioned to think. Poisons could be in the blood too. The genocide is over. Not only in my country. In all the world.

So, until here I think it's enough for bringing tears to many, to call to repentance, to reflection too. It's a call to empathy, one must not fall in excesses, or do anything being clouded. I said something very important: that people wouldn't even know how to react. This is very sad, and true. Specially in Argentina, but pretty much in all the western world.

What I want to be known is that this has been done by psychopaths. The chaos that has been systematically brought was brought by crooked people, that will never repent of what they have done, because they are like bad weeds that simply come to the world to be plucked away. Just like God gives work to those that take care of a garden or an orchard, so God gives work to the Justice, to care for the common good and execute the psychopaths. Death penalty must not be approved by anyone, it's part of common sense. In any case, thing is: how is it brought, or what did prevent common sense? That's the thing. This book has come saying it all. But this book is just a shadow of what I wanted to bring originally, that's why it's called "Modern Procer Project NOW". This book is an urgency. I myself am detoxifying at the moment of writing this, but already exactly three months since I did realize and took action, I know I am about to recover fully. It cannot take much longer.

At the beginning I was able to tell because of having drank the yerba mate in a bigger mate than I used, and I even changed the yerba like three times. I want to say that this is not about "a brand". At the beginning of the year 2023 I know a news went out blaming one specific brand, the which the media that did cover it, only seem to have tagged it as fake news or did want to hide it. That's what was left until today in the search results. Truth is, that I got poisoned with a different brand of yerba, the which many would think would be trustworthy. The thing is, it's not about brands, but about systematic genocide, made on purpose, with multiple complicities of a lot of shit people.

I don't want this to ever happen again. I myself see the people surrounding me, and I see they have been letting themselves be killed. Because of living between people like this, I ended up paying for them, and that even so when I have never been like them. What do I want to say? That it doesn't correspond for shit people to live around those that are not. Around those that want to live in a normal, healthy world. Truth is, that the entire population has been pushed problems that did never exist before in the history of humanity, while she was distracted with sexual immorality made easy through the bad use of technology. That's how they have let themselves be killed. And then many didn't care about being fat and eating garbage.

We end up all paying when we are mixed those who do not belong together. This is not about races, nationalities, or anything that wouldn't have anything to do, but about mentality, about that which one aims towards.

For this reason, "if we don't want to kill each other", let's separate. In any ways, there's some turbulence to be expected. But let's do things intelligently. And I want to say it again, problems have only been pushed, and people were never given a choice. People have been led to walk in a minefield, and was never taught the way out or the prevention. I bring an end to that. Anyone be having his choice, if he wants to follow Jesus, or kiss the hand of Barabbas. Because I will right know say very clearly from whom these problems have come.

These problems have been caused by the worse terrorists worldwide. People that did choose their names to confuse people even when they be referring to them. I will not fall for that one. Remembering that the common enemy are the psychopaths, right? Who would disagree?

All roads lead to Vatican City. Yes, from them have come all these evils. From the satanic “Company of Jesus”. It’s very probable that they have filled this “organization” with naïve people lately, those not having a clue about what that sect has been or is about. So, let’s simply keep understanding that it’s the psychopaths which must be killed, when one recognizes them. Be them having angelic faces or not. We are not going to expect them in cassocks, that it be understood. Nor with IDs on their chest. A psychopath doesn’t repent of the abominations he does. This is not about religion or pushing any religion. Common sense embraces people of good, and here there is not much to be clarifying anything if one pertains to that group.

But the so-called Jesuits are only one arm of this group of terrorists that did this. The other arm are the Zionist terrorists. To never call them Jews, because them, wanting to be called like that, want to induce people to hate and attack people that practice a religion sincerely with very good intentions, and that is not Zionist at all. But we must understand what Zionism means. Contextually, it means racism, supremacism, and to want to sully Jerusalem, and not to care for her wellbeing.

Both dogs, Jesuits and Zionists work together in accord to establish the Roman Catholic papacy as king of the whole world, even wanting to eventually move the see of her government to Jerusalem.

And they will never want the common good. Let’s bring the case of the metaphor of the hand that plucks out the feathers of a living chicken, and then offers her some crumbles of bread. The chicken comes close and eats from that same hand that plucked the feathers out from her before.

People of honor will not do that.

It was them who did cause all these problems. Not only in Argentina, but in the whole world.

So, things clear, I will not tolerate anyone calling Jews the Zionists, because that’s what happened in the Second World War, and that’s how a lot of innocent people did die. I will not allow that to happen again. Just as I don’t want anyone to kill an Evangelical, thinking that, as he is a Christian, then he belongs to the “Company of Jesus”.

Let’s prevent all of this with education, right?

This is only a general guideline of the project I did want to bring originally, which, by the way, would be called “The Great Trilogy”.

Take care of me as the author of this book, Guillermo Yacante Afonso, I really want to see it as I always wanted. And I think it was left clear that I am no coward. Already today, after all that I’ve been through, I am my own hero. But the project is about showing the way for that there be many all over the world, without anyone bothering people with potential.

Is it necessary that I say that I did never forget about my son? That I have always been bothered by something? That when I should have been in the best moment of my life, then I went autistic for almost two years?

Right now the way out, hope, prevention, everything you know already just because of this book. It’s all about putting the knowledge together. About not leaving the ideas flying around abstract, but making a call to action.

There’s no place for controlled opposition. Let’s be careful all of us of okhrana tactics (false “co-religionaries”, ambushes). And for this reason, let’s unite accordingly, and so divide.

That it be known that the purpose of the project is not only to bring solutions to the problems that others have caused, but to be able to set the bounds loose to human potential, and that nothing else be able to keep us stagnated. I would never allow that the place of bringing solutions, the first place, be left to those that have caused the problems, because with that one they have fantasized. No, I say, it will not be allowed.

Why are polluting fossil fuels being burnt, while clean, renewable, free energy has been discovered lots of years ago? A Christian named Stanley Meyer discovered, at least in the eighties, the way of making an engine work simply with a reaction of the water molecule, based upon hydrogen. Clean, efficient, renewable energy that did allow an engine to work with very little amount of water.

The ideas have always been, but they were hidden. And Stanley Meyer was killed, poisoned.

Why are we being blamed for the use of polluting energies? If those who did take unfair advantages speculating with the ignorance of the people have been those who did keep the thinking conditioned to that. And not only that, but that did also push all the evils to the entire society.

I say, for that people, easily recognizable as psychopath, execution in the spot.

No one has to ask for permission. Every hand is own of someone, and justice belongs to the justs. I say, against the common enemy.

Who would get angry when a psychopath be killed? If psychopaths had friends or family, that these be not angry, otherwise they wouldn't be following justice.

Order comes like this, attacking the common enemy, and establishing then every member of a worthy society, full of honor, as it be accordingly.

When the need for bringing order is imminent, one is not for following blind orders of those who one doesn't even know, and that even up to that very same moment have stood out for their absence, for their inefficiency, and for their not keeping up with the social contract.

So, after all, that each one be held responsible of his own actions. And no one can get angry for the execution of a psychopath, but another.

That the Third World War be that of good against evil. Like it has never been in the history of the world wars.

I say, like it had to be, as it was fair, from Argentina to the entire world comes justice, order, the call to action. And also, against all odds, against anything that could be expected. But that's how God is, that he uses that discarded, which was not had for valuable, to humiliate those who did come thinking themselves being something.

And Argentina doesn't go anywhere if it is not deployed a worldwide project from the beginning. Or would we have to suffer having to deal with the soldiers of the Vatican, with the NATO armies? No, please. Having to deal with people following blind orders could be very ugly, we don't want to see ourselves having to deal with people not knowing what they are doing. For this reason, education is so important, so that there be no excuses.

So, in all parts of the world, I say, against the common enemy! The psychopaths.

And that my country, Argentina, be a refuge in the times of the worldwide satanism. Because they have for granted the Mediterranean Basin, where many have fled escaping from my country, instead of having stayed to bring solutions or to do some effort. That each one be seeing for himself if it has been justified or not. Now see what you can do in the corral where you did get yourselves into.

So “Andinia” did think the satanists, the supremacists, the Zionists. No, it will be for the truly worthy people. For the noble people, for the people of good. This people are invited to live in my country.

And that the Evangelical Church be knowing. Evangelicals, with Evangelicals, please. And those that may come to join.

The world is directing towards the universal adoption of the digital currency in link with the worshipping of the Roman papacy, and, of course, we will have no part in that.

The importance of a currency has always been that it has served to obtain some good in return. The importance is in having goods, in producing. A society that has lived all her life on the basis of offering services, is a very vulnerable society.

Agriculture is essential, food production. Both agriculture and animal husbandry, without the use of poisons. They have never been necessary those called “pesticides”. We are not pests.

Here, the one knowing be teaching, how the earth is to be worked and farmed with the mind, with intelligence, with the same use of nature, and technology, for producing abundantly and with quality, without poisons.

And it’s coming a VERY mystic world. But that that be for those rejecting the Lord, and the God of the Bible. Away with the mystics! They deserve to be always missing the point. From being fornicators, to think that sex never, or only for procreation. Pff. Away with the mystics. That’s what they deserve.

And be careful with thinking that it be wrong to eat meat or whatever. The Bible already tells: that they will think of forbidding marriage and eating foods that God did create for the people to enjoy, if they participate in thanksgiving for them.

But the mystics are always like that. They think that they are more spiritual if they don’t eat meat or they sleep out in the open, self-flagellating. That’s what they deserve.

Let’s be careful, Christians. And call brother, the one being. Get to know each other! Don’t be naïve.

And remember that there are lots of things to be said, and much more I want to do. The only one essential is the Holy Spirit. But please, as much as it would be possible, take care of me, because here I have not put myself before anyone, and I do expect others to have the same feeling in putting themselves at risk in protecting me. That’s the spirit we need to bring, that’s how a society works.

And who are going to be more violent? The ones helping, or those who would want to kill?

And who are going to be more intelligent? The ones trying to make themselves pass for wanting to help? Or the ones who would truly protect me?

Remember that that which they would do to me, would be the same that they would do to any other wanting to follow the same Way.

Do expect, as you go putting the things said here into practice, an important change in mindset, in mentality. To many these could seem frightening, strange things, those that have always been part of common sense. Give yourselves time, don’t disrespect, and let’s take care of each other.

That each one be with the ones according. Be careful with falling into wrong groups. Again, let's take care of each other. And there are many people left stagnated, like to say, paralyzed, between the people they don't belong with, without they having been able to get away for one reason or another. Compassion, interest, violence for helping.

Do think in the rest. All this is what must be born when dawn was to begin in each one.

Let us not forget to purge the massive mainstream media. A lot of harm they have caused, and have been dens of psychopaths. Absolute priority, among the immediate priorities, is to purge the massive mainstream media. No buildings destroyed. No bombs exploded. Those who knew what they were doing are to be sought after, and be executed. No innocent be paying. And special attention to those who have been the owners, who did never appear on screen.

Those who have made pact with the devil, are to be shown that they are to receive the full contract, with due execution of their lives. As long as they don't show repentance. If they do repent, they will have mercy, as any person of the world would. But after having done abominations, if they do not show repentance, I say, that in the name of the Father, in the name of the Son, and in the name of the Holy Spirit, that it be proceeded with the Holy Execution.

I do want now to give space to which would be a symbol of my project worldwide, this is the instrumental portion of Blue Monday, leaving all lyrics behind, and giving space to the beauty of the instrumental portion, which combines perfectly with the words written above.

That's right. This is the true Christianity. We are not Mennonite heads, and we will know how to differentiate vengeance, from legitimate self-defense. Anyone not putting threat to us, that will be our "friend". Don't do harm to us, and we will have peace with any person, as our Lord said, that that who be not against us, is for us.

We will never impose any religion, just that no problems be caused to us. We will defend our sovereignty over what be ours.

And, of course, it corresponds that it be known the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ, what is it that he has done for us.

Jesus Christ died in the cross carrying over himself the blame of our sins. He is the messiah promised by God for the entire world. The very same God born from a virgin, born a Jew, fulfiller of the law given to Moses to perfection, the one which kept it, and keeping it, finished it. Dead without sin, and resurrected after three days of his crucifixion, empowered his Church giving her the Holy Spirit, very same seal of his approvement and sufficient witness of whom is whom.

At hand is the time of the fulfilment of the exact two thousand years since his death in the cross, and so likewise to be seen the contrast between the true Christ, and the false christ, the so-called antichrist. Which will be left very clear is the office of the papacy of the Roman Catholic Church.

Again those that be damned will choose Barabbas, but with Jesus Christ will stay the chosen ones, the beloved people. Only the truth will be able to give the people the capacity to choose. Only the truth will be able to polarize the world. When nothing be stopping people according to their nature.

And he who had repented of all of his sins, and had understood that only through the sacrifice of Jesus Christ in the cross can be saved, that will be.

To be perfect is an obligation to us put from God. To miss and fail is not allowed. For our blames is the Lord, which he himself carried. But that who would pretend to justify himself without trusting in the justice of the Lord, he will have what he deserves. Because to do good is nothing beyond duty. But all of us have in our accounts a negative balance, and someone has to pay for what has not been done well. Anyone pretending to ignore this, he will have to pay for that unfavorable balance himself. Be intelligent the reader, and trust in Jesus. There is only salvation in him.

Beware, because with a mystic world, also come the false prophets. As the Lord said, by their fruits you will recognize them. A good tree doesn't yield bad fruits. A bad tree of a person would be a person that would never show repentance, that be arrogant and puffed up. A person that voluntarily would not subject himself to the advice of Christian sound doctrine, especially the important commandments, or the essential doctrine.

Don't call false brother simply the one thinking differently in something, or "brother" the one that is not and will never be.

The way for being filled with the Holy Spirit is what must be left clear for the one that it be given, that is, the believer, and that's what I am going to make myself sure of. This is what is essential.

God supports with the Holy Spirit, that is, his same person, the believer in Jesus Christ. Only a true Christian can have the Holy Spirit.

That is the first requirement to be filled with the Holy Spirit. To have him.

But one must not confuse having him with being filled. One can have him and see himself impeded from the fullness.

The second requirement is to live in holiness.

But the third requirement, and which personally impeded me all my life, is to not be poisoned.

The body is the temple. The body of the believer is the temple of the Holy Spirit. And even one having him, even one living in holiness, if the body was sullied, corrupted, with a poison that be making it dirty enough, the believer could see himself impeded from being filled with the Holy Spirit.

And a person not being in the Holy Spirit is a person that cannot live the Christian life like she should. We are called unto perfection. Let's not be afraid of it. It's a commandment, if you look it up in the Bible. Let's not ignore it. All this is based upon the fullness of the Holy Spirit, it's His power.

So that we be not stopped by anything. Let's help one each other, and let's show that love and belonging each to one another that the Church did show on her youth, close to two thousand years ago.

The Lord is at the door, and knocks. If anyone opens, the Lord will come in and have supper with him, and him with the Lord.
